

Are you a Kenyan living with a disability? You might be eligible for this scholarship to study at the University of Nairobi!

Development Pathways is excited to announce the launch of the Krystle Kabare Scholarship. One Kenyan student with disabilities will be awarded full academic funding to study a Masters degree at the University of Nairobi.

The scholarship was set up to honour the memory of the late Krystle Kabare. Before her untimely passing, Krystle was working at Development Pathways, and had a keen interest in promoting the rights of persons with disabilities.

The successful recipient will also be given the opportunity to intern at the Development Pathways Kenya office, and supplement learning by contributing to social policy initiatives in Kenya during their Masters degree.

To be considered for the Krystle Kabare Scholarship, you must:

- Be a Kenyan citizen living with a disability
- Have already attained an undergraduate Upper Second-Class Honours degree or above
- Have an acceptance letter to a Master's programme at the University of Nairobi for September 2020, studying one of the following: Anthropology, Public Health, Sociology, Social Statistics, Economics (other relevant subjects might be considered)
